SURVIVING TO THRIVING

Living With Purpose

WELCOME

How to Use This Workbook

This workbook accompanies the Surviving to Thriving workshop. Use it to capture what stands out, reflect honestly, and turn insight into intentional action. This is your space to pause, process, and practice what you are learning.

YOUR FRAMEWORK

Clinical: The 5 Stages of Change

Faith: Revelation → Surrender → Renewal → Purpose

SESSION NOTES

Survival Mode

WHAT CAN SURVIVAL MODE LOOK LIKE

- functioning on autopilot
- constantly putting out fires
- ignoring your own needs
- difficulty planning beyond the immediate future
- making decisions primarily from fear
- staying busy to avoid emotions
- remaining in unhealthy situations because they feel familiar
- feeling emotionally disconnected
- constantly expecting something to go wrong
- believing, "This is just how my life is."

How do you get out?

OPENING REFLECTION

Where in my life have I become accustomed to surviving instead of fully living?

Stage 1: Recognizing Survival Mode

Precontemplation – Contemplation

PRECONTEMPLATION

A person may not yet recognize that something needs to change

They may believe:

- This is normal
- I'm fine
- This is just who I am
- I'm handling it

Revelation: Psalms 139: 23-24

Search me, God, and know my heart;
test me and know my anxious thoughts.
²⁴ See if there is any offensive way in me,
and lead me in the way everlasting.

CONTEMPLATION

Person begins to recognize that something may not be working. They begin asking:

“Is this healthy?”

“Is this really how I want to live?”

“Could something be different?”

This stage centers on:

- awareness
- insight
- pattern recognition
- increasing motivation for change

STAGE 1 REFLECTION

What have I normalized because I have been in survival mode?

What pattern am I noticing?

What might God be showing me?

“God, show me what I need to see.”

Stage 2: Building a Plan

Preparation to Action

ADAPTIVE COPING

Adaptive coping refers to thoughts, behaviors, or strategies that help a person adjust to or manage difficult circumstances.

Examples may include:

- becoming highly independent when support was unavailable
- emotionally distancing during overwhelming situations
- becoming highly alert in unpredictable environments
- working excessively to maintain stability
- trying to reduce conflict in unsafe situations

PREPARATION → ACTION

What helped me survive — and what needs to change now?

KEEP / HONOR

What adaptive strength do I want to keep?

CHANGE / BUILD

What needs a healthier response?

“Before we judge the behavior, we understand the function.”

STOP • START • CONTINUE

My Action Plan

STOP

What do I need to stop doing?

START

What healthier behavior do I need to begin?

CONTINUE

What is already helping me move forward?

My next right step is...

Step 3: I'm Out, Now What?

Action – Maintenance

MALADAPTIVE COPING

Maladaptive coping refers to thoughts, behaviors, or strategies that may provide short-term relief or protection but eventually interfere with healthy functioning, relationships, healing, or growth.

EXAMPLES

- hyper-independence
- people-pleasing
- emotional shutdown
- avoidance
- hypervigilance
- overfunctioning
- difficulty trusting
- constantly expecting danger
- inability to receive support

ACTION → MAINTENANCE

What helped me survive may not be what helps me thrive. What no longer works?

The survival response I am ready to outgrow:

Awareness creates freedom.

The Process Becomes

Recognize

the old survival pattern

Replace

It with a healthier response

Practice

The new response consistently

Maintain

it through triggers, setbacks, and
real-life stress

MY REPLACEMENT PLAN

RECOGNIZE

What old survival pattern do I notice?

REPLACE

What healthier response will I choose?

PRACTICE

How will I practice it intentionally?

MAINTAIN

What will help me stay consistent?

God, renew my mind and teach me how to live differently.

Part 4: Rebuilding Me

REBUILDING

not necessarily returning to who you were before the difficult season. Sometimes rebuilding means becoming someone new.

Participants begin exploring:

- Who am I now?
- Who am I becoming?
- What matters to me?
- What are my values?
- What relationships support my growth?
- What boundaries protect the life I am building?
- What habits support the woman I want to become?
- What purpose do I want my life to reflect?

IDENTITY & PURPOSE

The woman I am becoming...

She believes...

She does...

She no longer accepts...

She protects...

She prioritizes...

She is called to...

My next step is...

Closing: The Change Process

THE 5 STAGES OF CHANGE

Precontemplation — Recognizing there may be a problem
Contemplation — Considering change
Preparation — Getting ready to change
Action — Making the change
Maintenance — Sustaining the change
Change is a process, not a single decision.

Closing: The Faith Journey

REVELATION → SURRENDER → RENEWAL → PURPOSE

Revelation — God shows me what I need to see.
Surrender — I release what no longer aligns with where God is leading me.
Renewal — God transforms the way I think and teaches me how to live differently.
Purpose — I begin building a life rooted in who God created me to be.
Key message:
God does not only bring us out — He transforms us as we move forward.

CLOSING REFLECTION

What stage feels most familiar to me right now — and what is God inviting me into next?

A large, empty white rectangular box with rounded corners and a thin yellow border, intended for a closing reflection.

Change is a process, not a single decision.

Closing: Your Next Step

WHAT IS ONE CHANGE YOU BELIEVE GOD IS ASKING YOU TO MAKE AS YOU MOVE FROM SURVIVING TO THRIVING?

What do I need to recognize?
What am I preparing to change?
What action do I need to take?
What do I need to maintain?

YOUR NEXT STEP

What is one change I believe God is asking me to make as I move from surviving to thriving?

Recognize

What do I need to recognize?

Prepare

What am I preparing to change?

Act

What action do I need to take?

Maintain

What do I need to maintain?

Closing: From Surviving to Thriving

SURVIVING GOT YOU HERE.
BUT SURVIVAL DOES NOT HAVE TO BECOME YOUR PERMANENT IDENTITY.

What was adaptive for one season may become maladaptive in another.
You can honor the version of yourself that learned how to survive while still allowing God to transform the way you live now.
"God, what kind of life are You calling me to build from here?"
That is where thriving begins.
